

Mojca GOBEC je diplomirala na Medicinski fakulteti Univerze v Ljubljani. Podiplomsko izobraževanje je nadaljevala na raziskovalnem centru za promocijo zdravja na Univerzi v Bergnu na Norveškem. Zaposlena je bila primarni ravni zdravstvenega varstva kot zdravnica v dispanzerju za otoke in mladostnike in na Inštitutu za varovanje zdravja. Od 2001 je zaposlena na Direktoratu za javno zdravje, kjer je v letih med 2008 in 2020 opravljala naloge generalne direktorice. Je članica Upravnega odbora Evropskega centra za preprečevanje in nadzor nad boleznimi iz Stockholma, predstavnica Slovenije v Visokem odboru za zdravstveno varnost (Health Security Committee) pri Evropski komisiji in članica Skupine za preventivo in promocijo zdravja pri Evropski komisiji.

Je dolgoletna predsednica medresorske Komisije za AIDS in članica programskega sveta Državnega programa za obvladovanje raka.

Mojca Gobec graduated at Medical Faculty in Ljubljana 1986. She did postgraduate training in University of Bergen in Norway at Research Centre for Health Promotion between 1996-1998. She was a general practitioner at Primary Health Centre in Ljubljana and research fellow at National Institute of Public Health in Ljubljana. Since 2001 she is employed at Ministry of Health. Between 2008 and 2020 she was a Director General of Directorate of Public Health, responsible for communicable diseases, implementation of public health policies, with focus on health promotion and prevention of NCD in health care service.

She is a member of management Board of ECDC and a member of Health Security Committee. She chairs the Intersectoral HIV/AIDS Committee.

She is responsible for implementation of National Cancer Plan in Slovenia.